

For five years, First Dimension has been Rochon

You may not know this. The people you've relied upon at First Dimension Engineering have been operating as a Division of Rochon Engineering, for the past five years.

Effective immediately, First Dimension is officially changing their name to Rochon. It's not a new company; we're just adopting our corporate name.

Why change now? We wish to present ourselves as one company. It doesn't make sense for the same company to have two different names.

How will this affect me? Only your billing information has changed, slightly. We're the same people you've come to know and trust at First Dimension, we're at the same location but now we're called Rochon.

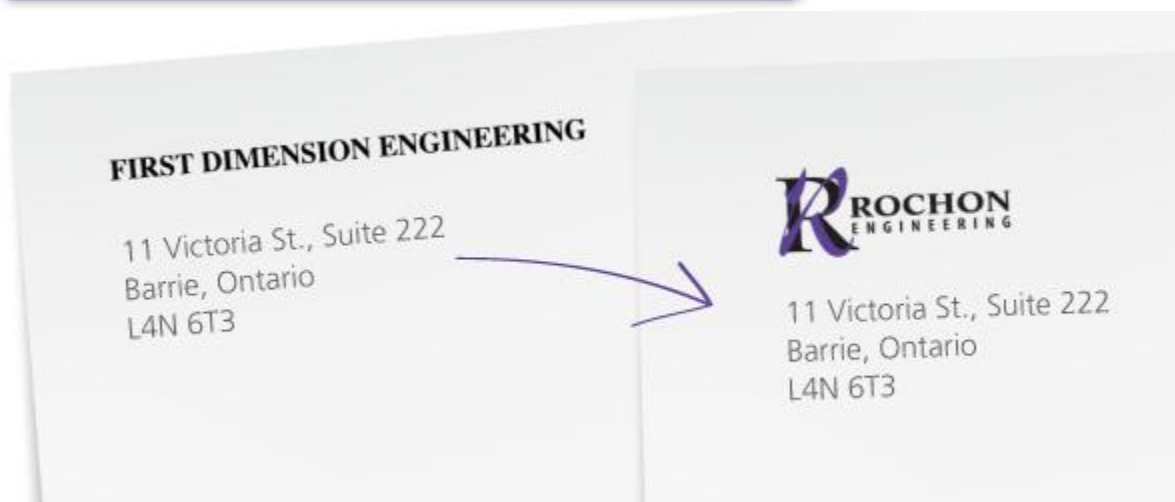

To learn more, contact your First Dimension (now Rochon) representative or simply call us at 1.705.727.1050

"After five years working alongside the First Dimension team of professionals, it's a privilege to officially put the Rochon name on the door."

Vincent and Michael Rochon

You'll barely notice the difference!
